In the midst of all this prosperity if a man doesn't think he is prosperous he will be led to imagine so if he believes Secretary Shaw's asseverations.

President Roosevelt says "we owe a duty to our country." Gewhillikins! We've been paying it tariff duty all this time and yet he is claiming that we are still owing duty.

A Boston man is going to write a book entitled "Things I Have Seen." He must have hung around Washington and seen some of 'em there representing Republican districts in Congress.

A northern exchange announces that "Prof. Morse will deliver a lecture on Mars Wednesday, October 31st." Land sakes! He's only got two weeks time to get there, and how in the world is he going to do it.

A celebrated Royal Academician complained in a lecture that the world is growing less beautiful. If he could take a stand where he could rubberneck all day at some of the beauties of the world he would change his opinion.

Among the campaign spellbinders sent out by Democratic headquarters at Raleigh is Editor W. C. Dowd, of the Charlotte Evening News. He will speak at several places in Western North Carolina and we'll bet he'll put up the kind of a spell that will be ail to the good.

It is announced that Postmaster General Geo. B. Cortelyou is already slated to succeed Leslie M. Shaw when he retires as Secretary of the Treasury. Cortelyou has very little to say publicly about anything but he has a pull that is far-reaching and gets the plums.

"Never kick a man when he is down" is an old adage that was handed around for the benefit of altercationists. It seems to be a back number now, for while Senator Platt is down on the mat some New York newspaper is trying to prove that his wife was once on the stage.

STRONG ADDRESSES

Wilmington Baptist Association Yesterday Heard Distinguished Members of the Church.

WILL ADJOURN TODAY

President Poteat, of Wake Forest; Rev. Livingston Johnson and Mr. Archibald Johnson, the Speakers—At First Church.

The sixth annual sessions of the Wilmington Baptist Association which is meeting this week with Brooklyn church, of this city, will come to a close to-day. The meeting has been well attended and fruitful of much good to the church. The sessions yesterday were possibly the most interesting yet held. The Association heard with a great deal of pleasure Rev. W. L. Poteat, the distinguished president of Wake Forest College, who spoke along educational lines generally; Rev. Livingston Johnston, of Raleigh, secretary of State Missions, and Superintendent Archibald Johnston, of the Thomasville Orphanage, who is the brilliant young editor of Charity and Children. These addresses were full of interest and profit to those who were so fortunate as to hear them.

The first day of the Association was devoted to a general discussion of Foreign Missions with Dr. Hale as the principal speaker. Yesterday the theme was State Missions and to-day the subject will be Home Missions with Dr. W. W. Hamilton, the Evangelist of the Southern Baptist Convention, as the principal speaker. It possible the business of the Association will be completed at one session to-day and adjournment will be taken at 1 o'clock. The sessions begin daily at 9:30 o'clock.

Yesterday the election of officers was announced as follows: G. E. Leftwich, of Wilmington, moderator; Rev. C. H. Utley, of Burgaw, vice moderator; C. E. McCullen, of Burgaw; clerk, and L. R. Highsmith, of Harrell's Store, treasurer. The place of next meeting will be selected at the meeting to-day.

Those who have been here attending the Association have been very fortunate in hearing the strong sermons being preached at the First church by Dr. Hamilton. There is no lack of interest in the series of services and the meeting last night was one of the largest yet held. Dr. Hamilton spoke with rare power on the theme: "Choosing Something Else Instead of Christ." He was heard with much interest. At the close of the service there were five additions to the membership of the church.

Two meetings will be held to-day as usual, the hours being 4 and 7:30 P. M. The public is cordially invited and the Christian people of all denominations are asked to join in the effort to save souls.

AT THE STATE SHOOT.

Wilmington Shots Show up Well in the Fair Tournament.

The team from the Wilmington Gun Club at the sixth annual tournament at the State Fair in Raleigh are showing up well at the traps in that city. At the opening shoot Tuesday G. A. Lyon, of Durham, won high amateur average of 175 out of 200; James I. Johnson, of Raleigh, was second with 166 and Stokley, of Wilmington, third, with 158. Guy Ward, of the Ballistite Powder Co., was high professional with 174; E. H. Storr second, 170; Col. J. T. Anthony third, 154. Dr. J. H. Dreher, of Wilmington, broke 149 out of 200; Mr. R. F. Warren, 140, and Mr. E. Boushee, 117.

ITS ANNUAL APPEAL

President of Associated Charities Urges Public to Come Forward With Contributions to Support The Work.

The Associated Charities, one of the most worthy institutions in the city and county, through its president, Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., who has given much of his time to the work without earthly reward or hope of reward, with the approach of Winter, makes its annual appeal to the charitable people of Wilmington to assist financially toward the care of the poor in this city. Every penny of the fund placed at the disposal of the Associated Charities is most economically and judiciously expended and to comparative strangers this should be an inducement to contribute. The fact of the economical management of the institution and its great power for good in the community is well known to older residents here. The appeal in behalf of this worthy cause is as follows:

Kind Friends of Wilmington:

The Associated Charities of our city find it necessary to appeal to you as we have not done since last Fall. Our funds are low and will soon be exhausted, and we will be unable to meet the needs of our poor for the coming Winter unless old friends and new friends send us at once generous personal contributions. We trust you will do this to carry on the work you have entrusted to us. Please send soon to our treasurer, Mr. J. H. Boatwright or our secretary, Miss Carrie Price.

Yours in best bonds,
A. D. McCLURE, President.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.

Rev Father William Hannon at St. Thomas' Church.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a meeting of the St. Aloysius Temperance Society in the basement of St. Thomas' Catholic church. The Rev. Wm. Hannon will address the boys on the duties of Catholic youth. A full attendance is requested. Parents and others interested in young people are cordially invited.

On next Sunday Holy Mass will be celebrated in St. Thomas' church at 7 A. M. and at 10:30 A. M. there will be "Missa Cantata" at which a sermon will be preached. The subject will be "Is Devotion to Mary Scriptural." In the evening at 7:30 there will be Rosary, Sermon and Benediction. The subject of the sermon will be "What is Truth?" (St. John, 18th Chapter, 38th. Verse). Father Hannon will preach in the absence of the rector at both services. Sunday School will be at 3 P. M. at which the assistant priest will preside. Meeting of the young ladies of the Children of Mary (Enfant de Maria) will take place at the convent at 4 o'clock on next Sunday. Baptisms will be at 2 o'clock on that day.

THE WRIGHTSVILLE DRAW.

Hearing Before District Engineer in This City To-day Noon.

The hearing before Maj. Evelyth E. Winslow, United States Engineer, upon the matter of the proposed draw in Banks Channel trestle, will take place to-day at noon in the office of the District Engineer in the postoffice building. The Consolidated Company, who with the public would be worst injured by the proposed draw, will be represented by counsel at the hearing and a mass of evidence including strong protests from citizens will be filed for transmission to the Secretary of War, who will decide the matter upon the recommendation of Maj. Winslow. It is not expected that a decision will be reached for some time yet.

Week of Popular Prices.

For five nights next week the Academy will offer Mr. Robert A. Mansfield and company of twenty in a popular price engagement. This will be the first attraction of its kind of the present season and its engagement will be inaugurated Tuesday night, which will follow closely the performance of "The County Chairman," an attraction the Academy management guarantees to be one of the best it has ever presented and will ever present.

AT ALTAR OF HYMEN

Several Very Pretty Home Weddings Celebrated in Wilmington Yesterday Evening.

ONE A LITTLE ROMANTIC

Miss Mabel Littleton Bride of Mr. S. Francis Garrison—Miss Kathryn Swain and Mr. John C. McAllister—King-Reaves.

Figuratively speaking wedding bells rang right merrily in Wilmington yesterday. All of them will interest quite a number of the young people to the marriage vows. That of Miss Mabel Littleton, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. F. Littleton, and Mr. S. Francis Garrison, a popular young employe on the wharf as chief clerk in the ship chandlery store of Mr. C. D. Maffitt, was accompanied by the least element of romance in that there was parental objection as to the time the wedding should take take place. It was the old story of love and locksmiths with a laugh at Father Time, the young people having met by prearrangement at the study of Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, where they were made man and wife in a simple but pretty ceremony. After the ceremony, the parents were notified and asked to relent, which, of course, they had to do and Mr. and Mrs. Garrison are now quite happy at their new home, No. 711 North Fifth street, where they are receiving the felicitations of very many friends.

Swain-McAllister.

Another wedding of quite a good deal of interest to a great many friends was that of Miss Kathryn Swain, the attractive young daughter of Mrs. Julia Swain, and Mr. John C. McAllister, a popular young man of Wilmington, holding a responsible position with the Consolidated Railways, Light and Power Company. The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock last night at the home of the bride's mother, No. 704 South Third street, where there were gathered a goodly number of friends and relatives of the young people to the marriage vow. Immediately following the ceremony an elegant reception was given at which the couple received the happiest felicitations of the guests in attendance. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

The parlors of the house were very attractively decorated for the occasion, white and green being the predominating colors. The ceremony was by the Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church and chaplain of the Boys' Brigade of which the groom is a most enthusiastic member.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white organdie and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair ferns. The maid of honor, Miss Pearl McEntee, wore a becoming costume of white organdie and carried a lovely bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair ferns. The groom was attended by Mr. Wilbur Dosher, as best man. They wore the conventional black with white vests and boutonnieres of white carnations. A large number of very handsome wedding presents were received attesting the high esteem in which the young people are held in the community. Mr. and Mrs. McAllister will be at home to friends on Sixth street, between Castle and Queen.

King-Reaves.

At the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. E. Sharp, No. 414 Church street, at 9 o'clock last night another beautiful home wedding joined in marriage Miss Evelina King and Mr. Robert M. Reaves, a popular young business man who is associated with his father, Mr. W. J. Reaves. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. McCullen, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. Church, and a large number of friends were present to witness the happy event. The bride was attended as maid of honor by her friend, Miss Rowena McKeithan, and the groom by his friend, Mr. Henry R. Orrell, as best man. The bride wore white silk and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair ferns. The maid of honor wore white organdie with bouquet of carnations and ferns. A reception followed the wedding at which the couple were congratulated upon the happy event in their lives. They will live at 512 South Second street.

Croom-Blake.

The marriage of Miss Lizzie Croom, of Burgaw, and Mr. Alonzo E. Blake, of this city, took place yesterday at the home of the bride in Pender county and was witnessed by a number of friends and relatives. The bride and groom reached the city on last evening's train from the North and went to their home in East Wilmington. There an elaborate wedding reception was given last night at which there were in attendance a large number of friends from this city.

THE MUTINEERS WEPT

Broke Down and Cried When News of President's Action Was Broken to Them Yesterday by Their Counsel, Mr. Peschau.

Arthur Adams and Robert Sawyer, the mutineers in the county jail here condemned to die on the first day of November, broke down and cried in their cells yesterday afternoon when the news was broken to them by Mr. Peschau, their counsel, that the President had declined to commute their sentences and that they had best prepare to meet their doom. Mr. Peschau called at the jail about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and was alone. The prisoners had not been notified before of the action of the President and Mr. Peschau felt it his duty to let them know. It was a rather unpleasant task for anyone and for that reason Mr. Capps, the jailer, had zealously guarded the secret from them. The negroes, both of whom are weak intellectually, had been in the most confident mood before the attorney called and it seemed cruel to acquaint them with the facts, but there was nothing else to do.

When Adams and Sawyer heard the doom that awaited them they were almost prostrated with nervous excitement, although Mr. Peschau held out a faint ray of hope to them in some plans that he had on foot that might and might not be successful. They remained in this nervous state all the afternoon and showed conclusively that they have none of the grit possessed by Scott, who walked to the gallows a few months ago without a tremor and all but joked with those about him as the trap was being sprung that sent him into eternity. Otherwise the mutineers are reported to be in the best of physical condition and had been bright and cheerful since the confession of Scott in which they seemed to have implicit confidence.

As yet no arrangements have been made by the United States authorities to place an extra guard on the jail as was done as a precautionary measure before Scott was hanged. It is presumed, however, that some such steps will be taken as the date for the execution approaches.

THE NEW HANOVER EXHIBIT.

Attracting Much Attention at the State Fair.

Judging from the comments in the Raleigh papers the New Hanover exhibit at the State Fair is attracting much attention. The Star's Raleigh correspondent, writing yesterday sasys: "Among the exhibits, the representation of New Hanover county under the direction of Mr. Cole, is attracting special attention. It is easily the best representation from any part of the State." The Raleigh News and Observer of yesterday in speaking of the county exhibits, says:

"In the agricultural department three of the leading counties in the State, Wake, New Hanover and Edgecombe, have magnificent exhibits of their resources and productions, showing endless varieties of farm and garden products. These are worthy of special notice and mention. Let visitors from the other 94 counties of the State give time and attention to the exhibits of these counties and start a movement in their own counties that will result in the bringing of many county exhibits here next year. The entire State will have its eyes upon these three counties hereafter as leaders in agricultural enterprise. It is not an overestimation to suppose that the lands in these counties will be in greater demand and will be enhanced in value by their having their resources and possibilities brought to the attention of the entire State."

Testing the Filter Plant.

Mr. Whipple, the eminent engineer of New York, has returned to Wilmington and for the Clarendon Water Works Company, is making final tests of the filter plant recently installed in this city. The requirements of the contract for the filter plant are very rigid and it will be made to come fully up to specifications before it is received by the company.

AFTERNOON WEDDING

Miss Bettte Washington Johnson the Bride of Mr. William Walter Love.

PRETTY HOME CEREMONY

Popular Young People of Wilmington United in Marriage in Impressive Service by Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells —Bridal Tour North.

A beautiful home wedding, charming for its simple elegance and the exceeding good taste with which every arrangement was carried out, at half after five o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Major and Mrs. William A. Johnson, No. 514 Dock street, joined in marriage their daughter, Miss Bettie Washington Johnson, and Mr. William Walter Love, both prominent young people of this city. The ceremony was by the bride's pastor, the Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., of the First Presbyterian church, and there were present to witness the event fraught with so much happiness for the young people a number of relatives and a few intimate friends, both parties to the marriage vow perferring that the service be as quiet and as unostentatious as possible.

The parlors of the home were very attractively decorated with potted plants and flowers and the scene was a very pretty one indeed. The only attendant was Miss Beck Love Johnson, sister of the bride, maid of honor, another sister, Miss Rena Johnson, being prevented from attending as maid of honor on account of illness. The groom was attended as best man by his friend, Mr. W. Hull Moore. When the party had gathered at a beautiful improvised altar in the room, Dr. Wells in a very impressive manner spoke the solemn words which made them man and wife and a little later they were showered with happy felicitations upon their union.

The bride was lovely in a beautiful creation of Alice blue voile with hat to match and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor was charmingly attired in white organdie and carried a lovely bouquet of pink roses. The male members of the wedding party wore black with boutonnieres of carnations.

Following the ceremony there was a brief reception at the home and the party repaired to the Atlantic Coast Line station whence Mr. and Mrs. Love took their departure for a bridal tour north. They will visit New York, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other points and returning to Wilmington in about two weeks will be at home to friends in this city.

The bride is one of Wilmington's most attractive young women and is much loved in a wide circle of friends. The groom is a son of the late T. D. Love, of Wilmington, and is one of the leading young business men of the city, being now secretary and treasurer of the D. L. Gore Company, one of the largest of the wholesale grocery houses in this section. A large number of very handsome wedding gifts attest the popularity of both the young people to the nuptials. They have the best wishes of very many friends in the happy event in their lives.

Democratic Campaign Speeches.

Hon. B. F. Dixon, State Auditor, will address the voters of Willard, Pender county, on the night of October 23rd; Grit, Pender county, Oct. 24th; Burgaw, Pender county, the same night, and Bannerman's Bridge on October 25th. From the campaign in Pender Mr. Dixon goes to Branch Williams' store, Duplin county, Oct. 26th; Magnolia, Oct. 27th; Ashepole, October 30th, at night, and Maxton, Oct. 31st, at night. Hon. E. C. Beddingfield, of the Corporation Commission, will speak at Jacksonville, Onslow county, to-night.

Hydrants on Market Street.

Foreman Jas. D. Mote, of the Clarendon Water Works Company, has just completed the installation of three extra hydrants on the new extension of the mains out Market street. The hydrants are at Eleventh, Twelfth and Fifteenth streets, affording splendid protection to property in that vicinity.

Cotton Car Off Track.

A freight car loaded with cotton flew the track just outside the city limits early last night and delayed the train from the north for a short time. No one was hurt in the accident.

MAY BE POLITICAL UPHEAVAL.

We can look out for surprises in New York and Pennsylvania on the 6th of November after the vote is counted, if we may judge from the uneasiness in Republican circles and some reports that are getting out. With regard to the campaign in New York the World, Democrat, but Anti-Hearst, says:

"The Republican leaders, both country and city, will experience the 'third degree' this week as a result of confidential reports received by Chairman Woodruff. These reports, coming from every county in the State, show that somebody has been lying. Contrasted with the confident and sanguine tone of the reports sent in by the district and county leaders, the confidential communications received by Mr. Woodruff are of a discouraging character.

"The conclusions to be drawn from them are directly antithetical to the perfeunctory reports submitted by the party leaders. It appears from them that the strength of the Hearst sentiment has been misrepresented, and that, instead of being unworthy of consideration it is actually a menace.

"One report received by Mr. Woodruff attracted special attention to this phase of the situation. It was from Monroe County, which has been one of the strongholds of the Republican party for many years. George W. Aldridge, the principal promoter of Governor Higgins' 'Kitchen Cabinet,' is the Republican boss of Monroe county.

"Eight thousand cards were sent out to voters in Monroe county. All but 300 of the recipients of the cards declared themselves to be in favor of Mr. Hearst. The cards were specially directed to workingmen."

As to Pennsylvania, Edward J. Kirby, of Pittsburg, a candidate for the Legislature on the Democratic and Lincoln Party ticket, says this in an interview with the Washington Post:

"'You may put it down as pretty certain that Lewis Emery will be the next Governor of Pennsylvania, and do not let this statement lose its force because I am a Democrat, for on the way to Washington this afternoon, I talked with four prominent Republicans of Philadelphia and Chester county, all of whom assured me that it did not look particularly good for Mr. Stuart, their nominee. There are several reasons for this state of affairs. The scandal growing out of the expenditure of $4,000,000 for the new capitol building at Harrisburg and $9,000,000 for interior furnishings is cutting quite a figure. And I understand the end is not yet; that the expense of putting the structure in shape will be even greater. This is enhancing the fight being made in every part of the State against the old-line Republicans, known as the machine, and against the ring which controls it.

"Then, too, the fact that this is an off year is going to cut a big figure. Democrats are encouraged and enthused by it, and Republicans are fearful of it. The fact that there is no Republican President to vote for helps Emery. He is aided by his opposition to the Standard Oil Company for several years past. Not a prepossessing man or an orator, he is reported to have met with big receptions in twenty counties, where he recently toured. The total vote on election day will be cut down a great deal because of the new registration law, which is very strict against floaters."

Are we to see the political revolution that the Star has been scenting in the breezes of late?

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. —Raleigh Correspondence Charlotte Observer: Your correspondent had a special interview with Senator Simmons regarding the political situation in North Carolina. The Senator said: "It looks fine, fine. The Republican campaign in the east has completely collapsed for various causes, one being the fact that Marion Butler took charge. He is not only odious to the Democrats but also to a large element of the Republicans, who no not at all relish the domination he has acquired and has been accorded. I say in my speeches and I say here now, to you, that if Butler should now or at any time in ten years get control of the Legislature, one of the very first things he would do would be to take steps to validate the special tax bond and other bonds which the people of North Carolina have repudiated as fraudulent and void."

—Asheville special, Oct. 16: It has been street rumor for the past couple of days that the Smith estate, now building the $200.000 concrete hotel at the corner of North Madison and College streets, was financially embarrassed and that work would be suspended, that a receiver would be asked for and that there would probably be a reorganization of affairs. It was stated on good authority that the estate had expended something in the neighborhood of $100,000; that it would require probably $100,000 or $125,000 additional to complete the structure and that the money was not forthcoming. That there is something doing is certain. Just what this is cannot be learned. It is stated unofficially this morning that certain contractors had been given instructions yesterday or Saturday to quit work pending conferences and negotiations.

—Salisbury special, Oct. 16: The Democratic executive committee is hot after Blackburn since his failure and refual to meet Hackett on the stump and answer the charges of poltical corruption and will now flood the district with circulars containing the affidavits of McEwen whom he caused to serve, with his brother, a term in the penitentiary. A copy of this circular in which there is the sworn charge that Blackburn accepted money and promised McEwen immunity from the law will also be mailed to-night to President Roosevelt, Secretary Shaw, Attorney General Knox, Uncle Joe Cannon and other big Republicans. Mr. Hackett has repeatedly served notice upon Blackburn that he was making use of these charges on the stump and asked him to a joint debate for the purpose of making them face to face. The latest challenge was met by Blackburn with a wave of the hand: "We are not looking horns this year." The Democrats generally have regretted the necessity of having to resort to this course, but the declination of Blackburn to face the issue renders impossible any other course.

—Raleigh Correspondence: A report on the public schools shows that 3,000 children are in attendance, besides these there being 2,500 other persons at school here. Raleigh is growing right along now. During the year ended to-day the number of building permits issued was 160. Sixty-five per cent of the residents are white. The postoffice receipts are $67,790, as against $50.000 four years ago. There is to be a determined effort to enlarge the corporate limits of the city, now only a mile square. There are five miles of paved streets and 17 of macadamized streets, out of a total mileage of 65. There are 25 miles of gas mains. The city debt is only $383,700, most of it bearing five per cent interest. At the last election there were 1,400 white voters. There are about 900 negroes of the voting age, but only about 250 of these vote. The number of water customers is 1,200. Raleigh has a very fine water system and the water served is of a very high class. It is taken from a stream which is very short, but steady in its flow, while small, and the water shed is so situated as to be very easily protected and policed.

—Greensboro Special, October 16: In a deal closed here to-day involving what is commonly known as the old Jones Railroad, extending from Thomasville to Denton, in this State, the road was purchased by W. T. Van Brunt, Dee Allen and business associates of New York city. The main office of the new company, which is now located at Thomasville, will be moved to Denton. The company has arranged for an extension of the line to connect with the Southern trunk line and the work will be pushed to a rapid completion. The old line from Thomasville will be extended to connect with the Norfolk & Western, thus making a complete air line connecting all great trunk lines of the Southern. At a meeting of the directors of the company held at Thomasville the following officers were elected: Dee Allen, president; W. T. Van Brunt, vice president; George B. Cokper, secretary and treasurer.

—Charlotte Observer, Oct. 1: More than one million spindles and over 18,000 looms were represnted at the meeting of cotton manufacturers which was held in the city yesterday. Mill men came from all sections of the State. Letters had been issued to every cotton manufacturer in North Carolina inviting him to attend this meeting. The number present was surprisingly large, more than one-half of the total number of spindles in the State being officially represented. Mr. R. M. Miller, Jr., chairman of the committee on invitation, called the meeting to order at 11:30 o'clock in the court house. After reading the official call for the meeting which outlined its objects, temporary organization was effected with the election of Mr. Miller, chairman, and Mr. J. P. Wilson, secretary. The meeting then went into executive session. After mature deliberation and discussion, it was decided to postpone permanent organization until the 30th of this month, when a second meeting will be held in Charlotte for that purpose.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Wilmington.

Most Wilmington people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Wilmington cures prove it.

R. F. Rowan, clerk with L. W. Davis' Clothing house, residing on Castle street, between Sixth and Seventh, says: "I strained myself lifting a heavy box, and suffered great pain across my back for a long time. I used plasters and linements, but they did me no good. I could hardly stand up straight, my back was so weak. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in our newspapers I went to Bellamy's drug store and got a box. I felt better the next day and continued using them according to directions and my back regained its old strength. I was simply surprised at the result. I will gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills every time for backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

A Criminal Chase

[Original.]

I was walking along a country road. The leaves were budding on the trees, the birds were singing, the sun was shining down with a grateful warmth. I was thinking what a happy world this is, after all, and how pleasant it is to live. A man was walking briskly toward me, and there was a distant sound of wheels behind me. Then in a twinkling I heard a report. The man, who was within a dozen yards of me, dropped. Naturally my first impulse was to look about me, and, casting quick glances, I saw a thin smoke floating from behind a tree to my right. After hesitating a moment in which direction to turn I ran forward to the fallen man. Bright red blood was oozing from a wound in his left breast and trickling over his coat. Directly behind me I heard a thud as of something falling on the road and, turning, saw a revolver lying within ten feet of me. Of course it had been thrown there by the murderer to divert suspicion from himself to me.

Meanwhile the sound of wheels drew nearer, and a buggy in which a man was seated turned a bend in the road. In the wood to the right was a sound of crackling underbrush. The murderer was about to escape, and I was standing over his victim with a pistol lying near. I ran like a deer in the direction the crackling indicated, feeling that my escape from a halter depended upon my catching the murderer. As I ran I could occasionally hear him breaking his way through bushes or over twigs. Then I heard a shout behind me:

"Halt or I'll fire!"

It all passed through my mind like a flash. The man in the buggy must have heard the shot. At any rate, he had seen me run away, had driven on, found both the body and the revolver lying in the road, had picked up the latter and was now threatening me with it.

My mind was bent on one object—catching the murderer. Fear of the bullet, fear of the scaffold, drove me on, but, singularly enough, there was another passion that spurred me far more than fear. It was rage—rage at the man who had sought to make me suffer for his crime. No thought of turning to explain matters to my pursuer entered my head. Such a course would avail nothing. The murderer would go on and I be left with those who would scorn my story while he secured safety.

Thus far I had not caught sight of the man on whose capture my life depended, but now the wood grew thinner, and occasionally I got a glimpse of a figure already darting around the trunks of the trees, occasionally jumping a fallen log. The mind is quick and keen in danger, and it occurred to me that when the pursuer came up with me in this open space he could shoot me. I cursed the moment that I had neglected to pick up the weapon myself, not so much that I feared the disadvantage which would come to me when my pursuer should enter the more open wood, but that the weapon would have enabled me to bring down the man I wanted.

A bullet fired from behind cut a twig over my head, and at the same time I heard the crack of a pistol. A moment later I entered a newly plowed field and saw my man ahead disappear behind a barn. Beyond there was more wood, flanked by fields, but I did not see him enter either. I was in the center of the plowed field, stumbling over the furrows—for I was getting exhausted—when my man behind reached the edge of the wood.

I felt something strike my arm, like a stone, but I felt no blood and concluded it was a spent pistol ball. It urged me on, and, reaching the barn, I cast a glance over the strip of wood beyond and its flanking fields. I saw no one. My blood was still hot for the chase, but my heart was pounding and my strength was exhausted. Catching at a straw, I turned into the barn. In the loft above I heard sounds as of a struggle. Climbing a ladder, I saw a sight that astonished me. A man had another pinned to the floor by lying upon him and holding a wrist with each of his own hands.

"Help to arrest this man," cried the one on top. "He has committed murder."

The man below relaxed his efforts and in a moment was passive between us.

"Explain," I said to the man I assisted.

"I was standing on the edge of the wood when this man—I suppose it was he—fired at the man in the road. I saw the victim fall and saw you go up to him. Then I heard a sound in the bushes, and, thinking it might be made by the man who had fired the shot, I ran toward it. I heard you coming behind, and it occurred to me that if I didn't catch my man you would catch me and I would be convicted of murder. He ran in here, and I got him."

"And I knew that if I didn't catch you I would be convicted of murder."

There was a sound of some one below, and presently a hand holding a revolver was thrust up the trap, followed by a man's head.

"Don't shoot," I cried. "We've got him."

"Thank heaven! He ran away just as I was driving up to the corpse, leaving me to suffer for his crime, the villain!"

"After starting, I concluded I was in for that," said the man I had followed.

"I was following you for my life," I remarked.

"You tarnal fools," said our prisoner. "I own this farm and was up here throwin' down hay. Reckon yer man'll got away. I saw him just now run into the wood there."

NORTH STATE'S GRANITE WEALTH

(Charlotte Observer.)

Washington, October 16.—Although North Carolina is largely interested in cotton manufacturing and other enterprises, there are many more industries throughout different sections of the State that tend to swell the aggregate amount of business done from year to year.

The granite output of North Carolina in 1905 amounted in value to $564,578. This, in comparison with the value for 1904, $297,749, showed the large increase of $266,829. This increase was principally in the stone sold rough and dressed for building purposes and in stone made into paving blocks. The producing localities are Asheville and Montford. Buncombe county; Balfour, Henderson county Rockcliff, Polk county; Granite Quarry, Faith, Salisbury and Barber, Rowan county; Old Fort, McDowell county; Advance, Davie county; Gastonia, Gaston county; Greystone, Vance county; Mt. Airy, Surry county, and Wise, Warren county.

In sandstone production the total amount reported for the State during the last year amounted to $4,483 and came almost altogether from Sanford, Moore county.

The stone classed as granite includes gneiss, mica, chist, lava, tufa and esite, and allied igneous rocks. While North Carolina is rich in these stones, not a sufficient amount was quarried during last year to make a tabulation.

The value of sandstone produced in the United States last year was $10,006,774, aas against $10,274,891 the year previous.

In crushed stone North Carolina produced $16,500 worth in 1905, and besides this a small amount of lime is burned.

MAY BE POLITICAL UPHEAVAL.

We can look out for surprises in New York and Pennsylvania on the 6th of November after the vote is counted, if we may judge from the uneasiness in Republican circles and some reports that are getting out. With regard to the campaign in New York the World, Democrat, but Anti-Hearst, says:

"The Republican leaders, both country and city, will experience the 'third degree' this week as a result of confidential reports received by Chairman Woodruff. These reports, coming from every county in the State, show that somebody has been lying. Contrasted with the confident and sanguine tone of the reports sent in by the district and county leaders, the confidential communications received by Mr. Woodruff are of a discouraging character.

"The conclusions to be drawn from them are directly antithetical to the perfeunctory reports submitted by the party leaders. It appears from them that the strength of the Hearst sentiment has been misrepresented, and that, instead of being unworthy of consideration it is actually a menace.

"One report received by Mr. Woodruff attracted special attention to this phase of the situation. It was from Monroe County, which has been one of the strongholds of the Republican party for many years. George W. Aldridge, the principal promoter of Governor Higgins' 'Kitchen Cabinet,' is the Republican boss of Monroe county.

"Eight thousand cards were sent out to voters in Monroe county. All but 300 of the recipients of the cards declared themselves to be in favor of Mr. Hearst. The cards were specially directed to workingmen."

As to Pennsylvania, Edward J. Kirby, of Pittsburg, a candidate for the Legislature on the Democratic and Lincoln Party ticket, says this in an interview with the Washington Post:

"'You may put it down as pretty certain that Lewis Emery will be the next Governor of Pennsylvania, and do not let this statement lose its force because I am a Democrat, for on the way to Washington this afternoon, I talked with four prominent Republicans of Philadelphia and Chester county, all of whom assured me that it did not look particularly good for Mr. Stuart, their nominee. There are several reasons for this state of affairs. The scandal growing out of the expenditure of $4,000,000 for the new capitol building at Harrisburg and $9,000.000 for interior furnishings is cutting quite a figure. And I understand the end is not yet; that the expense of putting the structure in shape will be even greater. This is enhancing the fight being made in every part of the State against the old-line Republicans, known as the machine, and against the ring which controls it.

"Then, too, the fact that this is an off year is going to cut a big figure. Democrats are encouraged and enthused by it, and Republicans are fearful of it. The fact that there is no Republican President to vote for helps Emery. He is aided by his opposition to the Standard Oil Company for several years past. Not a prepossessing man or an orator, he is reported to have met with big receptions in twenty counties, where he recently toured. The total vote on election day will be cut down a great deal because of the new registration law, which is very strict against floaters."

Are we to see the political revolution that the Star has been scenting in the breezes of late?

CURRENT COMMENT.

—"We are in no danger whatever of losing the National House of Representatives," says Secretary Shaw. Certainly not. It's politics may be changed, but we can't lose it.—Washington Post.

—A Pittsburg man has been assaulted and badly beaten because he shifted political allegiance. There'll be a demand for more hospitals if the custom is transferred to New York.—Washington Post.

—The Washington Post says that Mr. Roosevelt may be elected to the United States senate from New York in 1909. But we will not be the whole show if New Jersey steps in and elects Mr. Grover Cleveland.—Raleigh Times

—It is intimated that the Civil Service Commission will make an investigation after election to ascertain if employes in the classified service have been contributing to campaign funds. That sounds like the noise made by a bank examiner after the cashier has skipped out.—Washington Post.

—Our friend and neighbor, The Columbia State, says: "In the dispatch from Charlotte telling of the speech made by John Sharpe Williams, it is remarked that 'it was the consensus of opinion that his address was the best, most logical and most convincing presentation of the principals of Jeffersonian Democracy ever heard in North Carolina, certainly since the palmy days of Ransom and Vance.' This is interesting. It will be remembered that one William Jennings Bryan recently spoke in North Carolina." And, beloved brother, each of the statements in the above quotation is true—what The Observer said and what you said.—Charlotte Observer.

TWINKLINGS.

—"That," said the teacher, "is what is called an 'idiom.' Now, can any little boy or girl explain what an idiom is?" "Yes'm," promptly replied Tommy Skrapps, "dat's wa't mom sez pop is most o' de time."—Philadelphia Press.

—The Venus of Milo explained. "I twisted 'em off trying to fasten the three middle buttons in the back," she announced. From this it was easily inferred that she had no husband.—New York Sun.

—The pretty widow had finally induced the bachelor to propose. "Darling," he said. "I fear that I am not worthy of you." "Oh, don't let a little thing like that worry you," she replied. "You'll get over it a few weeks after we are married."—Chicago Daily News.

—There was a poor lady who hastened to the nursery, saying to her little daughter. "Minnie, what do you mean by shouting and screaming? Play quietly like Tommy. See, he doesn't make a sound." "Of course he doesn't," said the little girl. "That is our game. He is papa coming home late and I am you."—Argonaut.

—"What a wonderful vocabulary the new minister has," said Mrs. Oldcastle. "Yes," replied her hostess. "it's almost as big as Josiah's Uncle William's was, only his turned into goitre at last."—Chicago Record-Herald.

—Scott—Biggs is treating everyone he meets to-day with drinks. What's up? Mott—He's celebrating his silver divorce."—Exchange.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

—Gaston county has 39 cotton mills in operation and work is in progress on nine more, with three others projected.

—Thirty convicts were sent from the penitentiary at Raleigh on Tuesday to the State farm at Tillery, not far from Weldon, where they will pick cotton. These convicts have been employed on the brick yards at Raleigh.

—The Secretary of State, at Raleigh Tuesday granted a charter to the Imperial Mattress Company, of Washington, capital $30,000. W. E. Jones and others stockholders, this being given authority to manufacture furniture.

—Mr. Frank Erwin, who was struck by the northernbound train at Davidson Monday night died at the hospital at Davidson on Tuesday. Mr. Erwin, who was a resident of Mooresville, leaves a large family.

—Governor Glenn has received a requisition from the Governor of South Carolina for Henry McGill, colored, who is wanted in Lancaster county, S. C., for burglary and larceny and who is now in jail in Anson county. McGill has attorneys, who will make a fight against the negro's being taken to South Carolina.

—Freeman Jones, colored, of Durham, was recently convicted of burglary and sentenced to be hanged Nov. 2nd. At Raleigh on Tuesday, at the request of his attorneys, who gave notice that they will apply for pardon, the Governor reprieved Jones to Dec. 15th, in order to give him time to investigate the case fully.

—Greensboro special, Oct. 16: The Republican State executive committee, with headquarters here, is making an active and vigorous campaign. Hundreds of letters, circulars, pamphlets and other campaign matter are sent broadcast over the State by mail. The committee has also arranged with a number of speakers for addresses in various counties during the campaign. Many of these addresses have already been made. The eighth and tenth congressional districts are the center of the fight between the Republicans and Democrats. It is conceded that the Democrats will carry the other districts. The Republican leaders are confident that Britt will be elected in the tenth and are expecting. Blackburn's re-election in the eighth.

—Raleigh Correspondence Charlotte Observer: Your correspondent had a special interview with Senator Simmons regarding the political situation in North Carolina. The Senator said: "It looks fine, fine. The Republican campaign in the east has completely collapsed for various causes, one being the fact that Marion Butler took charge. He is not only odious to the Democrats but also to a large element of the Republicans, who no not at all relish the domination he has acquired and has been accorded. I say in my speeches and I say here now, to you, that if Butler should now or at any time in ten years get control of the Legislature, one of the very first things he would do would be to take steps to validate the special tax bond and other bonds which the people of North Carolina have repudiated as fraudulent and void."

—Asheville special, Oct. 16: It has been street rumor for the past couple of days that the Smith estate, now building the $200.000 concrete hotel at the corner of North Madison and College streets, was financially embarrassed and that work would be suspended, that a receiver would be asked for and that there would probably be a reorganization of affairs. It was stated on good authority that the estate had expended something in the neighborhood of $100,000; that it would require probably $100,000 or $125,000 additional to complete the structure and that the money was not forthcoming. That there is something doing is certain. Just what this is cannot be learned. It is stated unofficially this morning that certain contractors had been given instructions yesterday or Saturday to quit work pending conferences and negotiations.

—Salisbury special, Oct. 16: The Democratic executive committee is hot after Blackburn since his failure and refual to meet Hackett on the stump and answer the charges of poltical corruption and will now flood the district with circulars containing the affidavits of McEwen whom he caused to serve, with his brother, a term in the penitentiary. A copy of this circular in which there is the sworn charge that Blackburn accepted money and promised McEwen immunity from the law will also be mailed to-night to President Roosevelt, Secretary Shaw, Attorney General Knox, Uncle Joe Cannon and other big Republicans. Mr. Hackett has repeatedly served notice upon Blackburn that he was making use of these charges on the stump and asked him to a joint debate for the purpose of making them face to face. The latest challenge was met by Blackburn with a wave of the hand: "We are not locking horns this year." The Democrats generally have regretted the necessity of having to resort to this course, but the declination of Blackburn to face the issue renders impossible any other course.

—Raleigh Correspondence: A report on the public schools shows that 3,000 children are in attendance, besides these there being 2,500 other persons at school here. Raleigh is growing right along now. During the year ended to-day the number of building permits issued was 160. Sixty-five per cent of the residents are white. The postoffice receipts are $67,790, as against $50.000 four years ago. There is to be a determined effort to enlarge the corporate limits of the city, now only a mile square. There are five miles of paved streets and 17 of macadamized streets, out of a total mileage of 65. There are 25 miles of gas mains. The city debt is only $383,700, most of it bearing five per cent interest. At the last election there were 1,400 white voters. There are about 900 negroes of the voting age, but only about 250 of these vote. The number of water customers is 1,200. Raleigh has a very fine water system and the water served is of a very high class. It is taken from a stream which is very short, but steady in its flow, while small, and the water shed is so situated as to be very easily protected and policed.

—Greensboro Special, October 16: In a deal closed here to-day involving what is commonly known as the old Jones Railroad, extending from Thomasville to Denton, in this State, the road was purchased by W. T. Van Brunt, Dee Allen and business associates of New York city. The main office of the new company, which is now located at Thomasville, will be moved to Denton. The company has arranged for an extension of the line to connect with the Southern trunk line and the work will be pushed to a rapid completion. The old line from Thomasville will be extended to connect with the Norfolk & Western, thus making a complete air line connecting all great trunk lines of the Southern. At a meeting of the directors of the company held at Thomasville the following officers were elected: Dee Allen, president; W. T. Van Brunt, vice president; George B. Cokper, secretary and treasurer.

—Charlotte Observer, Oct. 1: More than one million spindles and over 18,000 looms were represnted at the meeting of cotton manufacturers which was held in the city yesterday. Mill men came from all sections of the State. Letters had been issued to every cotton manufacturer in North Carolina inviting him to attend this meeting. The number present was surprisingly large, more than one-half of the total number of spindles in the State being officially represented. Mr. R. M. Miller, Jr., chairman of the committee on invitation, called the meeting to order at 11:30 o'clock in the court house. After reading the official call for the meeting which outlined its objects, temporary organization was effected with the election of Mr. Miller, chairman, and Mr. J. P. Wilson, secretary. The meeting then went into executive session. After mature deliberation and discussion, it was decided to postpone permanent organization until the 30th of this month, when a second meeting will be held in Charlotte for that purpose.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Wilmington.

Most Wilmington people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Wilmington cures prove it.

R. F. Rowan, clerk with L. W. Davis' Clothing house, residing on Castle street, between Sixth and Seventh, says: "I strained myself lifting a heavy box, and suffered great pain across my back for a long time. I used plasters and linements, but they did me no good. I could hardly stand up straight, my back was so weak. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in our newspapers I went to Bellamy's drug store and got a box. I felt better the next day and continued using them according to directions and my back regained its old strength. I was simply surprised at the result. I will gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills every time for backache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

BOYWANTED

A Criminal Chase

[Original.]

I was walking along a country road. The leaves were budding on the trees, the birds were singing, the sun was shining down with a grateful warmth. I was thinking what a happy world this is, after all, and how pleasant it is to live. A man was walking briskly toward me, and there was a distant sound of wheels behind me. Then in a twinkling I heard a report. The man, who was within a dozen yards of me, dropped. Naturally my first impulse was to look about me, and, casting quick glances, I saw a thin smoke floating from behind a tree to my right. After hesitating a moment in which direction to turn I ran forward to the fallen man. Bright red blood was oozing from a wound in his left breast and trickling over his coat. Directly behind me I heard a thud as of something falling on the road and, turning, saw a revolver lying within ten feet of me. Of course it had been thrown there by the murderer to divert suspicion from himself to me.

Meanwhile the sound of wheels drew nearer, and a buggy in which a man was seated turned a bend in the road. In the wood to the right was a sound of crackling underbrush. The murderer was about to escape, and I was standing over his victim with a pistol lying near. I ran like a deer in the direction the crackling indicated, feeling that my escape from a halter depended upon my catching the murderer. As I ran I could occasionally hear him breaking his way through bushes or over twigs. Then I heard a shout behind me:

"Halt or I'll fire!"

It all passed through my mind like a flash. The man in the buggy must have heard the shot. At any rate, he had seen me run away, had driven on, found both the body and the revolver lying in the road, had picked up the latter and was now threatening me with it.

My mind was bent on one object—catching the murderer. Fear of the bullet, fear of the scaffold, drove me on, but, singularly enough, there was another passion that spurred me far more than fear. It was rage—rage at the man who had sought to make me suffer for his crime. No thought of turning to explain matters to my pursuer entered my head. Such a course would avail nothing. The murderer would go on and I be left with those who would scorn my story while he secured safety.

Thus far I had not caught sight of the man on whose capture my life depended, but now the wood grew thinner, and occasionally I got a glimpse of a figure already darting around the trunks of the trees, occasionally jumping a fallen log. The mind is quick and keen in danger, and it occurred to me that when the pursuer came up with me in this open space he could shoot me. I cursed the moment that I had neglected to pick up the weapon myself, not so much that I feared the disadvantage which would come to me when my pursuer should enter the more open wood, but that the weapon would have enabled me to bring down the man I wanted.

A bullet fired from behind cut a twig over my head, and at the same time I heard the crack of a pistol. A moment later I entered a newly plowed field and saw my man ahead disappear behind a barn. Beyond there was more wood, flanked by fields, but I did not see him enter either. I was in the center of the plowed field, stumbling over the furrows—for I was getting exhausted—when my man behind reached the edge of the wood.

I felt something strike my arm, like a stone, but I felt no blood and concluded it was a spent pistol ball. It urged me on, and, reaching the barn, I cast a glance over the strip of wood beyond and its flanking fields. I saw no one. My blood was still hot for the chase, but my heart was pounding and my strength was exhausted. Catching at a straw, I turned into the barn. In the loft above I heard sounds as of a struggle. Climbing a ladder, I saw a sight that astonished me. A man had another pinned to the floor by lying upon him and holding a wrist with each of his own hands.

"Help to arrest this man," cried the one on top. "He has committed murder."

The man below relaxed his efforts and in a moment was passive between us.

"Explain," I said to the man I assisted.

"I was standing on the edge of the wood when this man—I suppose it was he—fired at the man in the road. I saw the victim fall and saw you go up to him. Then I heard a sound in the bushes, and, thinking it might be made by the man who had fired the shot, I ran toward it. I heard you coming behind, and it occurred to me that if I didn't catch my man you would catch me and I would be convicted of murder. He ran in here, and I got him."

"And I knew that if I didn't catch you I would be convicted of murder."

There was a sound of some one below, and presently a hand holding a revolver was thrust up the trap, followed by a man's head.

"Don't shoot," I cried. "We've got him."

"Thank heaven! He ran away just as I was driving up to the corpse, leaving me to suffer for his crime, the villain!"

"After starting, I concluded I was in for that," said the man I had followed.

"I was following you for my life," I remarked.

"You tarnal fools," said our prisoner. "I own this farm and was up here throwin' down hay. Reckon yer man's got away. I saw him just now run into the wood there."

NORTH STATE'S GRANITE WEALTH

(Charlotte Observer.)

Washington, October 16.—Although North Carolina is largely interested in cotton manufacturing and other enterprises, there are many more industries throughout different sections of the State that tend to swell the aggregate amount of business done from year to year.

The granite output of North Carolina in 1905 amounted in value to $564,578. This, in comparison with the value for 1904, $297,749, showed the large increase of $266,829. This increase was principally in the stone sold rough and dressed for building purposes and in stone made into paving blocks. The producing localities are Asheville and Montford. Buncombe county; Balfour, Henderson county Rockcliff, Polk county; Granite Quarry, Faith, Salisbury and Barber, Rowan county; Old Fort, McDowell county; Advance, Davie county; Gastonia, Gaston county; Greystone, Vance county; Mt. Airy, Surry county, and Wise, Warren county.

In sandstone production the total amount reported for the State during the last year amounted to $4,483 and came almost altogether from Sanford, Moore county.

The stone classed as granite includes gneiss, mica, chist, lava, tufa and esite, and allied igneous rocks. While North Carolina is rich in these stones, not a sufficient amount was quarried during last year to make a tabulation.

The value of sandstone produced in the United States last year was $10,006,774, aas against $10,274,891 the year previous.

In crushed stone North Carolina produced $16,500 worth in 1905, and besides this a small amount of lime is burned.

CHARGES AGAINST SHOW NEGRO.

Justice Bornemann Has Multiplicity of Charges Against Him.

According to Justice Bornemann there is rough sledding ahead of Walter Banks, the big South Dakota negro who was brought here night before last from Pawnee Bill Shows at Whiteville by Constable Savage. There are a multiplicity of charges against the black giant from the West and there is every indication that he will get a good long term on the county roads.

The principal charge is the highway robbery of Major Henderson, who had a refreshment stand on the circus grounds Monday. Major alleges that Banks got him off to one side while the shows were at Hilton and at the point of a pistol made him disgorge what money he had taken in at the stand and also relieved him of his watch. The watch was recovered from the person of the negro and it was identified yesterday by Henderson. Another charge is sandbagging a negro named William Larkins, colored. A third is carrying concealed weapons and an assault with a deadly weapon, while there are half a dozen against the show attache for peddling liquor on the grounds Sunday night.

The preliminary hearing will take place before Justice Bornemann at 11 o'clock this morning and it promises to be quite interesting.

THE ACADEMY SATURDAY.

High Praise For "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

From indications the Academy will offer no better attraction this season than "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," which will be offered for matinee and night Saturday. The attraction was secured for two of the Fair dates at Raleigh and the News and Observer of that city to-day paid the company the following high tribute:

"The second night of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" at the Academy of Music was a revelation of the beauties of the charming romantic drama, and of the real ability of Miss Laura Burt as "Dorothy" and of Mr. Henry Stafford as "Sir John Manners. The play is a success and the cast is a superior one.

"One could easily get into extravagant phrases in praising the play and the performance, while the stage settings, the scenery and the costumes are worth the description of an artist of the highest school of painting. There are pictures on pictures that are gems, and it is safe to predict that the play is destined to have a long and successful. 'It is just delightful' was the verdict of the audience last night.

"As the play grows older it will be the more appreciated for it is a beautiful one, and is being now presented by a most capable company, backed by a stage director who knows what he is doing."

Police Court Yesterday.

The police court yesterday presented no cases of unusual interest save that of young M. C. V. Rivenbark, thought to be weak-minded and arrested at the request of his brother. The charges against him were vagrancy and disorderly conduct and in each of the two cases he was given 30 days on the county farm with the hope that the restraint there would be beneficial to him. James Stanley, an obstreperous negro was given 30 days for disorderly conduct and Norris Johnson, charged with assaulting his wife was fined $10 and costs.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

—Mr. C. E. Smith, of Whiteville, was at The Orton yesterday.

—Mr. G. W. Smith, of Atkinson, N. C., is in the city on a business trip.

—Mrs. W. C. Robinson left yesterday to visit friends in Durham.

—Mr. Murray Borden, of Goldsboro, was among yesterday's arrivals.

—Thos. D. Meares, Jr., has gone to Raleigh to "take in" the State fair.

Sinclair, Democratic nominee for solicitor in the Seventh district, with whom he is making a canvass in this section. They have an appointment to speak at Whiteville to-night.

Hon. H. L. Godwin to Speak.

Hon. H. L. Godwin, Democratic nominee for Congress in this district, while in the city yesterday had a conference with County Chairman William J. Bellamy, of the Democratic Executive Committee, at which it was decided to have Mr. Godwin address the voters of New Hanover in the Court House at night on October 31st. The following day, he goes to Shallotte, Brunswick county, but will return and on Friday night, Nov. 2nd., will address the voters of First and Fifth wards at some point to be designated later. Hon. Locke Criag, of Asheville, has an appointment to speak here on the night of October 22nd., coming here from Mount Olive, Warsaw and Burgaw and going to Pembroke and Rowland on the following nights.

The Osceola Seamen.

The Star is informed that an error was made in the testimony of Capt. McLean, of the British steamer Osceola, at the hearing before United States Commissioner Collier Tuesday as reported in this paper yesterday morning. Capt. McLean denies that he had knowledge that the seamen alleged to have been shanghaied from the Columbia were marines before his ship left Newport News. He testified that the first knowledge he had of the reported presence aboard of U. S. marines was when his ship was within 80 miles of Wilmington and then it was by hearsay from the steward on board. This correction is gladly made in justice to Capt. McLean, who bears every stamp of the gentlemen and upright sailing master.

Their China Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gerdes, among the most esteemed German residents of Wilmington, delightfully celebrated their China wedding at their hospitable home, on Eighth, between Queen and Wooster streets, last night. A large number of friends called to pay their respects and a large number of very handsome presents were received. The twentieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Gerdes was a most happy affair not only for the couple themselves but for the large number of guests who were presents. An elegant supper was served in honor of the event.

Raising the Atlantic.

The steamer Atlantic, of the Fisheries Company, which was recently sunk in collision with the Clyde Liner Navahoe at the mouth of the Cape Fear river, was raised yesterday by the Norfolk tug Rescue, but on account of the unsettled weather, she had to be let go again. However, the tug expects to get the steamer up in a day or two.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Mr. George J. Simon, the tailor, in the old Court House building, has a fine line of samples for Winter suitings and trousers that he would be pleased to show his friends and the public.

—By deed filed for record yesterday P. Q. Moore and wife transferred to Calvin D. Gore, for $100 and other considerations, property 32 feet south of Orange and 150 feet east of Tenth street, 75x165 feet in size.

—Lee Paskell, an able-bodied colored man, was arrested yesterday by Officer C. G. Jones, who lodged a complaint of vagrancy against him. There should be more of such arrests and the labor problem on the wharf would not be so difficult.

—The fact that Adjutant Wiggins is soon to leave the Seamen's Home for Bradford, Pa., to re-enter the Salvation Army service, has been construed by some to mean that the local post of the army here will be disbanded. The change of Adjutant Wiggins will in no wise affect the local army post, which is in charge of Adjutant Yates.

—Many friends in this city will be interested in the following announcement from Lumberton, N. C.: "Invitations are out to the marriage of Mr. Wade Wishart, a young attorney of this place, and Miss Emily McRackan, of Vineland. The event will be solemnized a week from Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Edward James McRackan, at 11 o'clock."

—The schooner Collins W. Walton, Capt. Magee, which has been discharging cargo of coal for the Ocean Fisheries Co., at Old Brunswick, cleared yesterday, light, for Satilla River, Ga. The British steamer Westlands, Capt. Granger, which put back for coal, also cleared yesterday. She is bound to Newport News. All shipping, however, is tied up at Southport waiting the pasage of the northeast storm predicted by the Weather Bureau.

The Baltimore Steamers.

Yesterday's Baltimore Sun has the following of local interest: Two blades were broken from the propeller of the Baltimore and Carolina Steamship Company's steamer Frostburg on Saturday while she was preparing to leave Georgetown, S. C., for Baltimore. Mr. Mason L. Weems, president of the company, left immediately for Georgetown and arrived there on Monday. As the Frostburg has a built wheel and spare blades on board, she will be tipped and have them fitted before sailing for Baltimore. Freight is piling up on the wharves in Frederick street dock for the steamers of the line for Wilmington, Charleston and Georgetown. The George Weems, which was due Monday, is supposed to have been one of the steamers from the southward that went under Cape Lookout for harbor during the prevailing easterly storm."

Gone to Wedding.

Miss Mary Nash, Mr. Henry Nash, Mr. Platt W. Davis and Mr. Benjamin Bell., Jr., of this city, have gone to Pittsboro, N. C., where this afternoon they will attend the marriage of Miss Annie Mauger Taylor, of that place, and Mr. E. Strudwick Nash, formerly of this city, but now of Charleston, S. C. The ceremony will probably be performed by Bishop Cheshire, of Raleigh. There is much interest in the ceremony among a large number of friends in this city.

Funeral Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary J. Hewett was conducted at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, the Rev. T. P. Noe officiating. A number of friends of the deceased and the family were present to pay her a last sad mark of respect. The interment was in the family burying ground near the city. The pall-bearers were Messrs. T. G. Landen, W. K. Bell, W. D. Huhn, M. Marshburn, O. H. Kennedy and W. H. Hardy.

Col. James for Inspector General.

Col. T. C. James, of this city, is being strongly urged by his friends among the military all over the State for the position of Inspector General of the North Carolina National Guard, vice Col. T. H. Bain, deceased. Some very strong endorsements of Col. James have been forwarded to Governor Glenn, who has announced that he will be so busily engaged that he cannot give consideration to the subject until after Nov. 1st.

CAROLINA COAST RAILWAY.

Amendment To Its Charter Filed in Raleigh Yesterday.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 17.—An amendment for the Virginia and Carolina Coast Railway Company, a branch of the Norfolk and Southern, was filed in the office of Secretary of State to-day, changing the old charter so that the northern terminal of the road will be Suffolk, Va., and the southern, Columbia, Tyrell county, North Carolina. The main line is not to exceed seventy-two miles. There is also a clause prohibiting branch lines more than twenty miles in length.

Their Infant Dead.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walton, No. 612 Orange street, tender them deepest sympathy in the death of their infant son, Victor C. Walton, aged nine months and 16 days, who passed away yesterday afternoon at the family home, after an illness of some time. The funeral will be conducted today.

McNulty

By SAMUEL EMERY

Copyright, 1905, by S. S. McClure Co.

AT a comparatively recent period in the history of the world McNulty, a somewhat strong-minded mule, owned, possessed and occupied the state of Missouri. To those who did not know McNulty this may seem rather an extreme view, but further perusal will serve only to strengthen it. Control, restraint and all those things which make for order and regularity were to him as nothing, and he ruled his domain with despotic sway.

Personally McNulty was an acquired taste. He had a vile temper, wicked little eyes and an unregenerate habit of punctuating his remarks with his heels. It can readily be seen, therefore, that social intercourse with him was what the insurance companies call "extra hazardous." His one accomplishment was his voice. Sometimes when despondent he would express his melancholy in a dolorous singsong that quavered out over the country in—

No one to love, none to caress,
Wandering alone through this world's wilderness.

Some appreciative person, noting McNulty's long upper lip, his strong prejudices and his undying hatred of anything that savored of law and order, saw a striking resemblance to one of the nations of the earth and dubbed him McNulty in a flash.

On a certain afternoon McNulty, strolling idly about his domain, observed that Hendricks, whom, for considerations entirely sentimental, he occasionally condescended to serve, was unusually worried and downcast. This melancholy tendency, he had observed with pain, had increased of late, and McNulty, himself perfectly care free, could not in the least understand it. He ambled up to where Hendricks was sitting silently on the fence and into his downcast face murmured at short range his fearsome wail:

No one to love, none to caress,
Wandering alone through this world's wilderness.

"Quit," said Hendricks in alarm. So McNulty strolled off, taking his rebuff with philosophical calmness and picking his teeth with a blade of grass.

Presently the sound of wheels made him prick up his ears, and he saw a stout, red faced man drive up and alight. With the quick intuition of the people with whom he was strategically allied, McNulty detected a landlord and knew him for an enemy instantly. With characteristic insolence, therefore, he strolled over and in a most offensive manner planted himself directly in the stout man's way. He, with the sublime courage of ignorance and utter disregard of consequences which is the American's heirloom, flicked McNulty smartly with his cane.

In a flash McNulty wheeled, like a battery going into action, and with irreproachable technique planted his foot just where a heavy gold watch chain after laboriously circumnavigating the fat man's protuberance was triumphantly clutching a vest button. To McNulty's intense chagrin he saw that he had miscalculated his range, for the stricken one, instead of dying forthwith, clasped himself frantically and sat down on a barrel. At this point Hendricks came up, and more in sorrow than in anger drove him forth into the wide world, while he himself strove to hide a wicked grin.

It was dark before the stout man, casting fearful glances about him, came out and drove away. Hendricks, looking after him from the doorway, saw black against the rising full moon a weird, writhing object like a new sign of the zodiac.

"Oh, Mac, Mac!" he said ruefully. "Why didn't you kick his confounded head off?" From over the moonlit fields came a faint, dolorous wail:

No one to love, none to caress,
Wandering alone through this world's wilderness.

McNulty's entrance upon the strenuous life began almost with that hour. Thereafter he was caught up and whirled into the very vortex of those events which make history, so that he came to exercise a mighty sway upon the affairs of mankind and write his name in imperishable lines upon the surface of the globe. That act of the great world drama in which he was cast began to move with a swifter tempo from the moment of his entrance upon the stage.

With the calm of a philosopher McNulty allowed Hendricks to take leave of him with a warmth of affection which neither of them could quite understand. Nor did it worry him overmuch thereafter to find himself under the nominal control of various persons. His hour had not yet come.

Finally an army contractor a humble instrument of fate, sent him with others of his race to South Africa, there to serve the queen

It is a well known fact that the British army does not seek to encourage originality among its humbler members, and McNulty soon began to suffer the griefs of the misunderstood. Even his voice, that priceless treasure, as it welled up to the brilliant African stars, threw whole regiments into disorder and caused the tender hearted to weep.

It was on a certain morning just before dawn that, having been troubled with bad dreams, he sang his mournful ditty to the awakening camp:

No one to love, none to caress,
Wandering alone through this world's wilderness.

The orderly who was busied about him scrambled away, declaring that it was enough to make you think all hades had popped loose. For this slurring remark McNulty let drive a little subcaliber kick at him. The orderly, out of all patience, fixed a bayonet upon a Lee-Metford and, holding it at arms length, prodded that portion of McNulty's anatomy which had given birth to the kick. A hind foot struck out viciously, but he was ready for it and caught it squarely upon the point of the bayonet.

Wild with pain, McNulty went stark mad, and, screaming, roaring and bellowing, he went amuck up and down the lines where the others of his family were stationed, kicking, biting and cursing them. Back and forth before them he dashed, urging them to mutiny, exhorting them to rise against their persecutors and between times biting and kicking them all over again

Finally they rose and, breaking whatever had held them, stampeded wildly. Through the startled camp they swept like a whirlwind, overturning tents, stamping out fires, scattering soldiers Heedless of everything and everybody, they passed the firing line and dashed madly across the open veldt. Urging them on with kicks and noise came McNulty, the pain in his foot growing with every step. Before them rose a rugged kopje, and toward this he directed them, his disordered brain seeing in it some resemblance to the knolls of his beloved Missouri.

Behind that grim kopje stout burghers, gray bearded men and stolid youths looked on in amazement and horror. This was not war a la mode. It was contrary to all regulations for cavalry to charge intrenched infantry, and up a crag, too, where no horse could find footing! It was unfair, unjust; it was last year's rules and contrary to all the usages of correct war. They held up appealing hands to high heaven and forthwith fled.

Meanwhile all this noise and confusion had come to the notice of a little white haired man, with piercing eyes, who had but lately come upon the scene. From him orders flowed in a white hot stream, and galloping aids radiated to all points of the compass. Things began to happen.

Presently a thrill shot half round the world. A little old lady, with drooping eyelids, who lived in most luxurious surroundings, received a message over which she shed a few happy tears just like any other old lady. A certain very high official with an orchid boutonniere jammed his monocle into his eye with fresh energy and fell to planning new things for his enemies. The very high official had been helped out of a very deep hole by fate—and McNulty.

Then a message quivered along the ooze and slime of the Atlantic. Some idlers reading bulletins in front of a New York newspaper office saw a man crawl out on a balcony and write swiftly and largely on a blackboard. More people stopped to look and then more. New York spoke to Boston, and the crowd on Washington street blocked the cars. Chicago heard something, and a telegraph editor tore his hair. Chicago told the news to St. Louis, and St. Louis flung it across the prairies to Denver. Denver shouted it over the Rocky mountains to the Golden Gate, and San Francisco spread the tidings up and down the length and breadth of the Pacific slope. Nations called to nations, and the continents sent it ringing to the echoing isles of the sea.

* * * * * * *

Hendricks sat in a New York broker's office looking gloomily at a big blackboard. About him sat twenty or more impassive men talking and smoking. Above the low hum of conversation rose the droning, expressionless voice of the man at the ticker.

"'Atch' five-eighths, 500 a half; Rock Island a half, St. Paul seven-eighths, Brooklyn five-eighths, a half, 400 at three-eighths; A. and A. 40, 500 seven-eighths, 500 a half"—

In spite of himself Hendricks groaned. The devil that lived in the ticker went off into a paroxysm of chuckling, until the reiterated wordless "cluck-cluck-cluck-cluck" began to get on his nerves.

"Mr. Hendricks," said the bland manager behind him, "I'm afraid we shall have to call on you for more margin."

"I'm busted," said Hendricks dolefully. "It's no use trying. Where do you sell me out?"

The manager sucked his teeth in silence, then said:

"Thirty-eight and a half."

Hendricks faced round quickly. "Why, man," he cried, "I'm margined deeper than that!"

"Sorry, Mr. Hendricks," the other said smoothly, "but we have to protect ourselves in a market like this. What in the world, if I may ask, made you sink all you had in the African and American Steamship company?"

"Oh, I thought it was a good thing," Hendricks said impatiently. "And so it would have been but for this cursed Boer war. I'd like to be one of ten men to hang that old Kruger!"

The manager permitted himself to smile gently. "You wouldn't have to go far for the other nine," he said. "The 'street' is putting up prayers in seven synagogues for 'Bobs'' success." Then he went back, murmuring something about "blame fools that mortgage their very shirts to buy when any child can see it's a bear market."

The monotonous voice at the ticker went on:

"'Mop' three-eighths, Sugar a half, Brooklyn three-eighths, a quarter, three-eighths, A. and A. three-eighths; a hundred more at a quarter."

In the inner office a stout man with an overworked gold watch chain was becoming more offensively triumphant with every quotation that came over the tape.

"A. and A. a quarter and no bottom!" he sang out joyously. "Sell another hundred at the market."

Outside, Hendricks, in utter despair, was clutching the rungs of his chair and with head bowed was trying to pray to such gods as he elected to serve. The noise in the room came dimly to his ears.

"Brooklyn three-quarters, Metropolitan a half, A. and A. an eighth, 200 at 39"—

With the grim humor that comes only when hope is gone, Hendricks smiled grimly and murmured, "We who are about to die salute you."

"Wabash three-quarters, A. and A. seven-eighths," went on the relentless voice. "B. and O. a half, A. and A. five-eighths."

"That's 40⅝!" exclaimed a man at the ticker. There was a sharp intake of breath, and then somebody said "Gee!" in an awed tone.

The droning began again: "'Atch' three-quarters, A. and A. 41, an eighth, 500 a quarter, a thousand at five-eighths." In spite of himself he could not keep the excitement out of his voice. Every man in the room was on his feet. "'Mop' a half, A. and A. 42; 500, 43; 500, 44."

Hendricks was on his feet, with the rest, striving with shaking hands to relight his reeking cigar. A young man near him punched his friend in ecstasy. "The shorts are on the run, Billy!" he cried joyfully.

Down the narrow street outside came a resonant, singsong voice: "Uxtra! Uxtra-a!"

"Extras!" cried somebody. "Open the window."

As the sash snapped up the voice swelled in above the manifold noises of the city. "Uxtra-a! Uxtra! British win a big victory! Uxtra-a!" Up the street a roller organ was gladly caroling, singing its gospel that life was all joy and merriment and dancing. To the end of his life Hendricks never forgot that song, with its seductive shake and trill that set one's feet twitching and the tinkling cascade of silver notes that rippled down the scale at every interlude.

The man at the ticker had resumed his wonted expressionless voice. "A. and A. 45; 500 a half; 1,000, 46; a thousand more at 48!"

There was an awed hush. No one spoke. The organ outside had come nearer, and Hendricks, unconsciously beating time with his foot, hummed the chorus:

Don't make no blunder;
You couldn't lose him.
A perfect wonder.
They had to choose him.
A great musician
Of high position
Was Whistling Rufus, the one man band.

But on the other side of the globe a disconsolate world power with a sore foot was making the hated air quiver with—

No one to love, none to caress,
Wandering alone through this world's wilderness.

Animal Humbugs.

In military stables horses are known to have pretended to be lame in order to avoid going to a military exercise. A chimpanzee had been fed on cake when sick. After his recovery he often feigned coughing in order to procure dainties. The cuckoo, as is well known, lays its eggs in another bird's nest, and to make the deception surer it takes away one of the other bird's eggs. Animals are conscious of their deceit, as shown by the fact that they try to act secretly and noiselessly. They show a sense of guilt if detected. They take precautions in advance to avoid discovery. In some cases they manifest regret and repentance. Thus bees which steal hesitate often before and after their exploits, as if they feared punishment. A naturalist describes how his monkey committed theft. While he pretended to sleep the animal regarded him with hesitation, and stopped every time his master moved or seemed on the point of awakening. —London Answers.

Matrimony.

What is marriage?

Marriage is an institution for the blind.

When a man thinks seriously of marriage what happens?

He remains single.

Should a man marry a girl for her money?

No. But he should not let her become an old maid just because she's rich.

When a girl refers to a "sad courtship" what does she mean?

She means that the man got away.

Is an engagement as good as marriage?

It's better.

Why does a bride wear a veil?

So that she may conceal her satisfaction.

When a man says he can manage his wife what does he mean?

He means he can make her do anything she wants to.—Detroit News.

WAS CONSPIRACY SAYS CHANLER

Former New York Millionaire, Largely Interested in North Carolina Enterprise, is Lecturing—Imprisoned for Lunacy.

(Washington Post.)

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.—After several years of silence, John Armstrong Chanler announces that he has in press, and will begin to distribute the later part of this week, a book of 500 pages, in which he attacks prominent New York lawyers in connection with his incarceration for insanity. Chanler is a member of a very old and wealthy New York family and a descendant of the original Astors. He has about a million dollars in his own right, but a number of years ago was incarcerated in the Bloomingdale asylum, in New York, as a lunatic. After four years' confinement, he escaped and disappeared, finally reappearing suddenly in Albemarle county, this State, where he had married Amelie Rivers, the author of the "Quick and the Dead." From her he was afterwards divorced, and she is now the Princess Troubetskey.

Chanler is a lawyer and has devoted himself in the last five years to acquiring a wonderful fund of information on the lunacy laws of the world, giving special attention to those of New York, under which he asserts that any sane man whose relatives desire to obtain possession or control of his property can be railroaded into an asylum and shut up indefinitely.

Chanler is in probably unprecedented position of being officially and legally a lunatic in his own State of New York, unable to return there without danger of arrest and incarceration and deprived of the control of his own property, which is in the hands of a committee, while in Virginia and North Carolina, and elsewhere in the country he is a free man regarded as fully competent to manage his affairs. He has property in both these States and especially large interests at Roanoke Rapids, N. C., of which he was one of the founders.

To-night he delivered an address to the people of that town, in which he outlined something of what his book contains. The book is said to consist almost entirely of extracts from political records, court judgments, and proceedings. He asserts to his friends that from these documents he will prove that some of the leading lawyers of the New York bar are guilty of conspiracy against his liberty and property. He further declares that some distinguished citizens of New York have been guilty of perjury. He also attacks the management and methods of the Bloomingdale institution.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over 60 years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no others. **

A Young Mother at 70.

"My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. Twenty years of intense suffering from dyspepsia had entirely disabled her until six months ago, when she began taking Electric Bitters, which have completely cured her and restored the strength and activity she had in the prime of life," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. Greatest restorative medicine on the globe. Sets Stomach, Liver and Kidneys right, purifies the blood, and cures Malaria, Biliousness and Weaknesses. Wonderful Nerve Tonic. Price 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

A Badly Burned Girl

or boy, man or woman, is quickly out of pain if Bucklen's Arnica Salve is applied promptly. G. J. Welch, of Tekonsha, Mich., says: "I use it in my family for cuts: "I use it in my injuries, and find it perfect." Quickest Pile cure known. Best healing salve made. 25c at all druggists. **

There's no use getting mad if that for sale sign you stuck on the front of your vacant house has not brought you a tenant or purchaser. Your sign has been read and reread by practically the same people, who pass by it every day and who are too intent on other things to stop and look over the property. Now, if you would advertise in the Business Locals of the Morning Star it would come before the eyes of all the people looking for real estate. This is because they are accustomed to have the Morning Star tell them what property in Wilmington may be had.

FOREIGN LABOR FOR THE SOUTH

Shipload of Immigrants to Sail Today From Bremen For Charleston —South Carolina's Immigration Commissioner Now in Europe.

(New York Herald.)

Loaded with European immigrants for the Southern States, a steamship will sail from Bremen on October 18 direct for Charleston, S. C. Concerning this new movement for providing the South with laborers, W. P. Atwell, consul, writes from Ghent as follows:

"Commissioner E. J. Watson, of South Carolina, who is in Europe endeavoring to turn the tide of immigration to America southward, has been in Ghent at the branch office of his department here. The branch office has been in operation about one year, and conducted in such a manner as to command the confidence of the Belgian authorities. That Mr. Watson is undertaking work in Europe upon a somewhat broader scope than is usually attempted, and for a purpose that will make the results of his experiments worth studying, may be gathered from the outline given by him to the consulate. Commissioner Watson says:

"'I have long been convinced, as has U. S. Commissioner General Sargent, that the only practical solution of what is now rapidly becoming the great immigration problem in the United States rests in the selection and direction of immigrants, as far as possible, at their own homes before they are booked and started to America to be dumped into the congested centers of population, without the remotest knowledge of country or conditions, or where they are to find the kind of work they are fitted for. This has been resulting in the making of paupers and criminals out of good men, who, had they been landed at the door of opportunity and at points from which they could be readily and easily absorbed, would have quickly become useful members of the body politic. The care of the present laws of the United States is simply as to the admission of the immigrant on reaching the great ports. The moment he is admitted he becomes the prey of unprincipled labor sharks."

ROCK CLIFF LITHIA SPRINGS WATER.

READ WHAT ONE OF THE MOST NOTED CITIZENS OF SOUTH CAROLINA HAS TO SAY OF THE FAMOUS ROCK CLIFF SPRINGS WATER.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 24.
To Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Co.:

Gentlemen:—This will certify that I was severely afflicted with a serious case of erysipelas, that confined me to my bed for about six months or more, with daily attendance of my physician, and which eventually settled in my left leg and became so severe that a consultation of three physicians was held and the decision reached that the lower part of my leg would have to be amputated to prevent the disease extending to the upper part of my leg and body. I declined the operation and was advised to try Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Water. I engaged board near the spring and was advised to bathe my leg in the water, at the same time drinking freely.

This application soon soothed the pain, and for the first time in months previous I slept for about two hours. After a week's treatment, without any medicine or physician's help, I walked to the spring on crutches. I continued the treatment daily, and within two weeks was able to walk to the spring without crutches and in four weeks was able to walk home, a distance of 1½ miles, and resume my official business.

I was permanently cured by the use of the water, and take great pleasure in giving you this testimonial to the efficiency of the Rock Cliff Springs Water in the treatment of erysipelas.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, October 17.—The cotton market to-day showed continued nervousness and fluctuated irregularly within a range of about 20 points. The close was steady at a net decline of 5 to 25 points with sales estimated at 200,000 bales. The opening was barely steady at a decline of 4 to 11 points in response to lower cables than expected, but the market almost immediately rallied on the less favorable weather outlook and following the publication of the forecast calling for showery weather in the western belt and rain in the eastern belt, prices advanced to 11.14 for January or about 7 points net higher and 18 points above the low level touched on the call. Later prices eased off under realizing to five to six points net lower and in the last few minutes fluctuations were rapid and irregular. The close was about 7 points up from the lowest on the active months. Southern advices received during the day reported continued firmness among interior holders.

Receipts of cotton at the ports 45,234 bales, against 46,646 last week and 38,278 last year. For the week 375,000 bales, against 346.051 last week and 319,834 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans, 8,416 bales against 6.048 last year and at Houston 22,457 bales, against 10,018 last year.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, October 17.—Many lines of staple cottons have been withdrawn from sales pending a more settled condition in the dry goods market. Very large sales of printed goods are being made and discounts have already been shortened on leading staple prints. The demand for underwear and hosiery for Fall and Spring are beyond the capacity of houses here to supply. The offerings of cheap goods in silks are being limited by the high price of raw material.

FIERCE FIGHT IN PHILADELPHIA

Terry McGovern and Young Corbett Fought Six Very Bloody Rounds.

THE CONTEST WAS BRUTAL

Both Men Severely Punished and Encounter Wound Up With Honors Easy—They Were Weak from Furious Efforts.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Philadelphia, October 17.—Terry McGovern and Young Corbett fought a hard six round bout at the National Athletic Club to-night. When the gong announced the close of the battle there was little to choose between the fighters. The fight was one of the bloodiest ever witnessed in this city. There was no decision.

In the opening round there was not a blow which did any damage. McGovern, profiting by his two previous battles with Corbett, took no chances and simply danced around the ring or rushed to a clinch. At the opening of the second round, Corbett rushed out and caught McGovern with a terrific right on the chin, which forced the latter to take the count of nine. When McGovern got to his feet he rushed to a clinch and in so doing he butted Corbett over the left eye, opening a gash from which the blood flowed in a stream. From this round to the finish the fighters were covered with blood from head to foot.

Matters grew worse in the third round. After Corbett had missed three right swings for McGovern's jaw he finally landed a hard right hook over Terry's eye, opening a deep gash.

The fourth round was decidedly in McGovern's favor. Time and again he would counter on the wind as Corbett rushed in and an occasional jab to the face opened up the damaged eye, the blood from which partly blinded Corbett.

The fifth and sixth rounds were about even, but there was never a second that the men were idle. At the pace the men were going it is doubtful if either could have lasted two more rounds. McGovern was weakened by Corbett's blows and the latter, who carried at least twenty pounds too much weight, was ve weary from his own exertions.

SEVERE STORM ON THIS COAST

Dangerous for Shipping to Go South —Two Other Storms.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 17.—A severe northeast storm prevailed to-night along the Virginia and North Carolina coasts. Cape Henry reported a maximum wind velocity of 50 miles an hour. The coast wire to Hatteras is down. The weather bureau has notified shipping that it is dangerous to proceed south. In addition to the northeast gale here, there is another storm off the Florida coast and still another entering from the Caribbean sea.

Nothing has been heard of the barge Berkshire which broke adrift while being towed down the coast by the whaleback steamer Bay State. There are six men in the barge.

Newport News, Va., Oct. 17.—Fears for the safety of the missing whaleback barge Berkshire were relieved tonight when the wrecking tug Merritt arrived in port and reported passing the barge safely at anchor five miles northeast of Cape Charles. Captain Trudo, of the Berkshire, asked to be reported "All's well aboard," and declined assistence. The steamer Bay State, which lost the barge thirty miles north of Cape Charles Monday afternoon, is now loading coal and if the weather permits she will put to sea tomorrow morning at daylight to bring the vessel into port.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT SENECA, S. C.

Report That Negroes Set Town Afire in Revenge.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Columbia, . C., Oct. 17.—The town of Seneca, S. C., was visited by fire at an early hour today and property worth about $75,000 was destroyed. The property was insured for $25,000.

The fire originated in the Oconee Inn, a new brick hotel, which was totally destroyed. The Palmetto Hotel recently completed, together with the stores of Hunt & Harper, Luther Moore, and the Striblings Pharmacy, were burned.

Both hotels were well filled with guests and there were several narrow escapes. The doors of several rooms were forced in order to rescue the occupants.

Rumors were circulated early that the fire was the result of incendiarism and was started by negroes in revenge for the destruction of a negro college by dynamite at that place on Sunday night last. Later investigation, however, showed that there was little on which to base the rumors. The negroes of the town did everything they could to stay the progress of the flames.

PUBLIC OPINION AGAINST REBATES

New York Central Railway Company Convicted by Federal Court Jury.

GRANTED RAKE-OFF ON SUGAR

General Traffic Manager of Railroad Also Convicted—Total Fines on Six Counts Can Be $120,000. Sentence Deferred.

New York, October 17.—A verdict o fguilty of granting rebates on sugar shipments was returned by a jury in the United States court here to-day against the New Yoark Central Railway Company, and Frederick L. Pomoroy, the company's general traffic manager. Sentence was deferred until Friday to permit the attorneys for the defense to file motions with the court. In discussing the jury's verdict, Austen G. Fox, counsel for the defendants, placed the responsibility for the conviction of his clients upon public opinion.

"You can't defend rebate cases in the present state of public opinion," he said.

The charge against the New York Central and Pomoroy was based upon indictments found by the United States grand jury after many months of investigation. It was alleged that the defendants entered into an arrangement with the American Sugar Refining Company, whereby Edgar & Son, of Detroit, were favored by a reduction of five cents per hundred weight on sugar shipments from New York to Detroit from the regular traffic rates.

Acording to the provisions of the Elkins act, under which the convictions were secured, the maximum penalty is a fine of $20,000. As both the Central and the personal defendant, Frederick L. Pomoroy, are convicted by the decision of the jury on all of the six counts charged in the indict ment, the total fine for each can be $120,000.

In submittting the case to the jury, Judge Holt reviewed the inter-state act and the amendatory law in 1903, known as the "Elkins act." This statute provided for the punishment, Judge Holt said, of the corporation as well as its agents and officers for a violation of acts regulating commerce. Referring to the joint traffic arrangements between the New York Central and the Michigan Central, he said that the indictments charged that Mr. Sealmer, as agent for the sugar companies, and Edgar & Son, in Detroit, had applied for a lawer rate for sugar shipped between the parties than that of the regular traffic rates. The government alleges that the traffic manager arranged for a reduction of five cents per hundred pounds from the established traffic of 23 cents. The jury could find, he said, that either or none of the defendants were guilty as alleged, or that they had paid one or all of the sums specified as rebates. He said it was necessary in criminal convictions to show intent, but in some instances the jury could find the intent from the act itself.

$1,000,000 LUMBER COMBINE.

Sawmills in North and South Carolina in Big Deal.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Lnchburg, Va., Oct. 17.—The merger of the Williams & McKeithan Lumber Company of Lumber, S. C., the Apex Lumber Company, of Hamlet, N. C., the Palmetto Lumber Company, of McBee, S. C., the Chatham Lumebr Co., of Durham, N. C., with numerous sawmills, seventy thousand acres of valuable timber lands and two small railways in the Carolinas, with a paid up capitalization of $1,000,000, has been announced. Ernest Williams, of Lynchburg, is president; J. M. Barr, former general manager of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad is a director. Lynchburg will be the home office.

DANGEROUS TO SHIPPING.

Sunken Derelict Directly in Track of Vessels.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., October 17.—Captain Williams, master of the British steamer Monach, from New Orleans for Havre and Rotterdam, which came in here to-day for coal, reports that on Tuesday last, twenty-two miles off the mouth of the south pass entrance to the Mississippi, he passed a derelict bark or ship which lay directly in the track of passing vessels and is dangerous. The vessel's mast lay alongide, while from a pole aboard flew a white flag, probably a table cloth or sheet. There was no sign of life on the wreck.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DAVIS IN RICHMOND TOMORROW

Surviving Confederate Generals to Be Honorary and Active Pallbearers—President and Mrs. Roosvelt Tender Sympathy and Send Flowers.

By Wire to the Morning Star.

New York, October 17.—It was announced to-day that the body of Mrs. Davis will be taken to Richmond Thursday night. It will be accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, Jefferson Davis Hayes and Dr. Webb, all of the immediate family. The guard of honor of Confederate veterans camp, of New York, will accompany the body to Richmond. Mrs. J. H. Parker, president, and a delegation of the New York chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, will be included in the party.

Among the telegrams of condolence received to-day by Mrs. Davis' daughter, Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, was one from Mrs. Pickett, wife of the illustrious Confederate general.

Many letters and telegrams were received from the various chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the camps of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Funeral To-morrow Afternoon.

Richmond, Va., October 17.—At a conference of high State and city officials, including Governor Swanson, Lieutenant Governor Ellyson, Adjutant General Anderson, and other distinguished citizens of Virginia, held this afternoon, it was arranged that the funeral of Mrs. Jefferson Davis shall take place in St. Paul's church, this city, at 3. P. M. Friday, next. General Stephen D. Lee, of Mississippi, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, has been asked to act as chief marshal on the occasion, and has accepted the honor. He is now on the way to Richmond. He will issue an order requesting that all the living Confederate generals meet him here on Friday. Governor Swanson will issue a proclamation calling for a general suspension of business on the occasion of the funeral, the governors of all the States that made up the Confederacy are expected to be present at the obsequies, and all the Confederate and military organizations of Virginia, besides those of other Southern States, will take part in the sad ceremonies. The remains will lie in state in St. Paul's church between the time of their arrival here Friday morning and the hour for the funeral:.

It is a striking coincidence that the remains of Miss Winnie Davis, the "Daughter of the Confederacy," arrived here for burial on Friday morning, September 23, 1898, and that the remains of her mother are now to arrive for sepulturc here on Friday morning.

The immediate arrangements for the funeral are in the capable and devoted hands of Hon. J. Taylor Ellyson, the Lieutenant Governor of Virginia.

Confederate Generals Pallbearers.

Norfolk, Va., October 17.—"In order that proper respect may be paid by this federation to the patriotic and illustrious woman, Major General Theodore Garnett, commanding the Virginia division, is hereby appointed to see that suitable arrangements are made to carry out the intentions of this order. He is to use his best judgment as to the course to follow.

"By command of Stephen D. Lee,
"General Commanding."

General Theodore Garnett, of Norfolk, commanding the Virginia division, United Confederate Veterans, was in receipt yesterday of an order from Gen. Stephen D. Lee, commanding the United Confederate Veterans, relative to the death of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, who passed away Tuesday night in New York. The above is an extract from the order, issued from Confederate headquarters in New Orleans.

Assuming the duties imposed by this order, General Garnett yesterday announced the following appointments for attending the funeral obsequies of Mrs. Davis to be held to-morrow in Richmond, Va.

Honorary pallbearers: Generals Stephen D. Lee, Mississippi; A. P. Stewart, Tennessee; S. B. Buckner, Kentucky; L. L. Lomax, Virginia; R. F. Hoke, North Carolina; W. L. Cabell, Texas; James H. Lane, Alabama; Marcus J. Wright, Washington, D. C.; C. Irvine Walker, South Carolina; Clement A. Evans, Georgia; W. P. Roberts, North Carolina.

Active pallbearers: Major Generals Thomas W. Carwile, South Carolina; Julian S. Carr, North Carolina; George W. Gordon, Tennessee; F. P. Fleming, Florida; General George P. Harrison, Alabama; Robert Lowry, Mississippi; C. M. Wiley, Georgia; Bennett H. Young, Kentucky; K. M. Van Zant, Texas; Jas. B. Gantt, Missis souri; N. T. Roberts, Arkansas; William E. Mickle, Louisiana; A. C. Trippe, Maryland; Robert White, West Virginia; Brigadier General Stith Bolling, Virginia, and Colonel Edward Owen, New York.

The representatives of all of the United Confererate Veterans' Association have been requested to report their attendance in Richmond and will be assigned places in the procession.

Sons of Veterans Will Attend.

Birmingham, Ala., October 17.—Thomas M. Owen, of Montgomery, commander in chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans to-day issued a general order to the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, calling upon the camps to hold memorial exercioses in honor of Mrs. Jefferson Davis.

Norfolk, Va., October 17.—Confederate veterans from all parts of Virginia and the Virginia camps of Sons of Veterans will be represented at the funeral of Mrs. Jefferson Davis at Richmond.

State Commander Old, of the Virginia Sons of Confederate Veterans, to-day appointed a committee of twelve from different cities of the State to represent that body, and directed that all local camps in all parts of the State name delegates to represent them. Where the camps cannot be called to meet in time to take appropriate action and elect delegates, the camp commanders are authorized to name the delegates.

Beautiful Sentiment from South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., October 17.—Governor D. C. Heyward sent the following telegram of condolence to Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, daughter of Mrs. Jefferson Davis:

"Please allow me, in behalf of our State, to tender you our deepest sympathy in the death of your venerable and venerated mother. We share, with all who loved her in the Southland and elsewhere, your sorrow, which brings memories of your distinguished father and of other days."

Roosevelts Send Symjathy and Flowers.

Washington, October 17.—President Roosevelt to-day sent the following telegram to Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, expressing the sympathy of Mrs. Roosevelt and himself over the death of Mrs. Jefferson Davis.

"The White House, Washington, D. C. October 17, 1906.

"Mrs. J. Addison Hayes,
Hotel Majestic, New York City.

"Pray accept the most sincere sympathy of Mrs. Roosevelt and myself.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt also have sent flowers for the funeral of Mrs. Davis.

MRS. HARRY THAW NOT UNEASY.

His Lawyer Says District Attorney Jerome is Bluffing.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

New York, October 18.—The following statement was made today by Clifford W. Hartridge, counsel for Harry K. Thaw, bearing on District Attorney Jerome's remarks before Recorder Goff yesterday.

"There is nothing in the insinuation of the district attorney that somebody else might be indicted in connection with the Thaw case. This was given out by the district attorney in order to divert public attention from the real points at issue, to-wit, the fact that the district attorney of New York county has been using illegal methods to deprive a man charged with murder of his proper rights under the laws. If the district attorney is going to indict anybody in the Thaw case where has he been resting all the time since the shooting occurred without having the indictment made.?"

Mrs. Harry K. Thaw said that she is not in the least worried by the intimation made by District Attorney Jerome yesterday that another person in addition to Harry Thaw may be indicted for the murder of Stanford White. Mrs. Thaw met A. B. Peabody, of her husband's counsel, when she made her regular visit to the Tombs today, and the attorney was with her when she spoke of Mr. Jerome's statement.

BIG SHORTAGE IN SUB-TREASURY

Treasury Experts Counting $20,000,000 at St. Louis Make Discovery.

UNCLE SAM IS OUT $61,200

Chief Wilkie of United States Secret Service is on Hand but Says He is Attending the Bankers' Convention.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

St. Louis, Oct. 17.—The Republic today prints the following:

"Three expert accountants from the Treasury Department at Washington, working under a deputy United States Treasurer, counting more than $20,000,000 in the vaults of the United States sub-treasury, have discovered a shortage of $61,200."

John E. Wilkie, chief of the United States secret service, is in the city but declares that his mission has no connection with the examination. He says he is here merely to atend the bankers' convention.

United States Sub-Treasurer Thomas J. Atkins admitted that the expert accounts are in St. Louis but said no definite statement would be made by him until the representatives from Washington had finished their investigations. "A man's reputation," said Mr. Atkins, is worth more to him than the loss of $61,200 is to the government. If an error was made in checking money from the vaults to one of the cages, a re-count of all the money hand would reveal the error, and also the presence of the full amount of the money which should be in the vaults. The present investigation will determine whether the accounts balance. Until then nothing can be said and it would be unjust to connect the name of any employe with the discrepancy at this time."

PUT INTO CURACOA FOR COAL

Runaway's Wife and Children Are With Him—He Says He is Bound For New York—Curious Route.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 17.—The steamer Carmelina with Manuel Silveira, the Cuban banker, whose recent disappearance from Havana was said to have brought about the failure of Celballos & Co., his wife and two children, steamed into Curacoa a week ago last Sunday, according to Captain Bennett, and several of the passengers and crew of the steamship Zulia of the Red Line, which reached here to-day from Curacoa and Venezuelan ports.

H. B. Chase, a representative of a lumber company of this city, who returned on the Zulia from LaGuyra said the Carmelina put into Curacoa early on Sunday, October 7, and left on the forenoon of the following day, after taking on coal, and ostensibly for Porto Cabello. "I was curious enough to look up the Carmelina's passenger the names of Silveira, his wife and list," said Mr. Chase, "and I found two other Silveiras, presumably children. I was told that they landed at Curacoa, saying that they were going to New York probably on the Zulia. I learned that they shortly afterwards went to Porto Cabello. I thought it strange that they should go to New York from Havana by way of Curacoa. Nobody paid much attention to the Carmelina," said Mr. Chase, because none of us knew anything about Silveira and his connection with the failure of Ceballos & Co."

Substantially the same story was told by Captain Bennett, who said he recognized the Carmelina as she came into Curacoa and supposed she was short of coal.
